ABOUT ME

For over 10 years, I have worked in roles where creativity, service, and responsibility have been key components. I am a cheerful and social individual, always committed to delivering good results and a high standard of service.

My strengths lie in my passion for my work, to grow alongside my colleagues and my drive to challenge myself, whether that be in the military, at work or at home. With a background in music and a little bit of sports, my interest in programming and games has grown over the years. Now, as a student in the Yrgo Game Programmer education, I am excited to expand my portfolio and further pursue my creative and programming passions in the gaming industry.
